

COVID-19

VACCINATION DRIVE

Should I get vaccinated if I am pregnant?

Currently available data indicates that the COVID 19 vaccines donot pose a risk to pregnant women or the foetus.

Based on how these vaccines work in the body, COVID-19 vaccines are thought not to be a risk to lactating people or their breastfeeding babies.

If you are trying to become pregnant now or want to get pregnant in the future, you can receive a COVID-19 vaccine.
